Mental Health Advocacy Day

Tuesday, January 31, 2017 at the Vermont State House

We need your support at Mental Health Advocacy Day! Forty-two co-sponsors will advocate for mental health policies and urge lawmakers about the importance of "Caring for Vermonters ~ Invest in Mental Health".

Please join us at the State House, 8 am to 1 pm. The agenda includes advocacy training and opportunities to interact with legislators, provide testimony and hear from those who have experienced mental health challenges.

New York Times Author Describes How 'Social Isolation is Killing Us'

Social isolation is recognized as having dire physical, mental and emotional consequences - and the number of U.S. adults who admit to being lonely has doubled since the 1980's.
With this in mind SASH had added "reducing social isolation" to our 2017 initiatives. After identifying socially isolated seniors using a validated screen we work with them to learn of ways to address this issue. Some examples are group programming offered at SASH sites such as Colorama, Rock and Walk, and nutrition classes, just to name a few, to connecting participants one on one through volunteering or a buddy system.
